Mr. Underwood realized the difficulty of impressing the public with the importance of an issue which would be raised by this action, but he counts on the possible capture of the House by the Democrats, and very wisely holds that the reform will be much more apt to come if the party is bound by pre-election commitment, than if the reform is proposed after the power is in his hands.

Some time the House will break the power of the Speaker. That is believed by all observers to be inevitable. It remains to be seen if it will come about in the Sixtieth Congress by Democratic votes.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PETERSBURG, VA., June 12.—An equipment agreement between S. D. Several well known citizens on Sycamore Street are making vigorous protests against alleged damages to their real estate, incurred by the lowering of the street grade, and the cutting of shade trees in the present work of replacing asphalt with granite sidewalks. A. K. Davis, president of the Southern Female College, recently called on the city engineer, Judge Mullen, of the Corporation Court, restraining the city engineering department and the Southern Contracting Company from cutting trees in front of the college, and last evening E. W. Criswell presented to the Board of Public Works, through his attorneys, a protest against the lowering of the sidewalk in front of his residence, claiming that the city had no right to do the work, and giving notice that he would hold it responsible for the resulting damage.

Many a boy is made happy these days by a present of half a dozen pencils with his name printed thereon in gold letters. Perhaps the name "lead pencil" will last through all time and eternity. The original pencil was really made of lead, and in the early days of the world's history, a clearly discernible mark, German lead in its manufacture. Our earliest importations were made of lead, and none could be bought with other money than gold coin. A common "lead" pencil was about worth its weight in gold, and a man who got a supply of the well recommended. When a New York merchant advertised the arrival of a consignment of "lead pencils" the rush to buy was well marked.

American ingenuity, aided by German skill, brought the pencil quickly to the front in pencil manufacture. Our enormous forests of cedar and the discovery of graphite, with the introduction of labor-saving devices, have brought the pencil output up to 1,000,000 pencils a day. There are more than 100 annual bookings amount to half a million dollars each. They give away hundreds of thousands of pencils to advertising men, and in fact in a casual way will surely have every pocket stuffed full.—New York Press.

Etymology of "Bribery."
"Bribery" is a word with a curious history. In the old Geneva Bible it is said of the scribes and Pharisees that they "make the clean outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of bribery." The authorized version has "extortion," and there is no doubt that by "bribery" the Geneva Bible meant robbery. "Bribery" probably meant originally a bribe, a broken-off piece, but it occurs first in old French signifying a piece of bread given to a beggar. Hence the Italian "brba," vagrancy, and the old French "brbier," a beggar or a greedy devourer. The word developed in two directions—in the sense of robbery and of a present. When Plautus speaks of a "bribed" he means not one that had been corrupted, but one that had been stolen. All of which we give because there may be officials in the P. R. R. service who wish to know the original meaning of the word now applied to their dealing in coal stock.—Lancaster Examiner.

ANTI-PASS SECTION WILL BE MODIFIED
House Conferees Prepare Amendment to Be Submitted When Committee Meet Again.
(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12.—There has been prepared by the House conferees on the railroad rate bill a modified form of the anti-pass amendment, which will be presented at the next meeting of the joint conferees committee for consideration. The modification is in the way of specifying an exception class who may receive free transportation from the railroads lawfully. The first exception is that of railroad employees and their families. Another is that of employees of the Postoffice Department who hold commissions from the Postmaster-General and are required to travel.

The action upon the completely prohibitive pass provision embodied in the first conference report has developed a decided sentiment among legislators that anti-pass legislation, perhaps, ought not to be made a part of the railroad rate bill.

There is a hint that such a proposition may be forthcoming from the Senate conferees as a counter proposition to the new provision to be created by the House. Should such a plan be presented, the prediction is made that both the

HOUSE ADOPTS GAG LAW AGAIN

Sends Rate Bill Back to Committee After Defeating Move by Democrats.

CRITICISM OF THE PRESIDENT
Lodge Says Packers Are Standing in Own Light in Not Inviting Inspection.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 12.—With a very large proportion of the members present due to the activity of the Republican and Democratic wings, the House today passed a rule sending the railroad rate bill back to conference, as asked for by the Senate, without even an expression of its wishes as to any of the amendments to the bill. The rule was debated for forty minutes. The leaders participated in the discussion, the Democrats taking the position that the time was opportune to concur in the sleeping-car amendment and instruct the conferees as to the anti-pass amendment. Although the Democrats were aided by eight Republicans, they could not command votes enough to defeat the rule, which was adopted, 184 to 99.

Mr. DeArmond (Missouri) called the rule "gag law," and said now was the time to vote on the amendments to the bill. The rule was debated for forty minutes. The leaders participated in the discussion, the Democrats taking the position that the time was opportune to concur in the sleeping-car amendment and instruct the conferees as to the anti-pass amendment. Although the Democrats were aided by eight Republicans, they could not command votes enough to defeat the rule, which was adopted, 184 to 99.

Criticize President.
While the sundry civil bill was under consideration, the House Committee of the Whole adopted an amendment offered by Mr. Bowersock (Kansas), prohibiting canteens in soldiers' homes.

Unexpectedly the Nell-Reynolds report on the conditions of Chicago packing-houses came in for severe criticism. Mr. Mondell (Wyoming), Mr. Slayden (Texas), and Mr. Fulkerson (Missouri) discussing the advisability of the report in scathing terms. Mr. Ames (Massachusetts) defended both the President and the report, and insisted that the packers should pay the cost of inspection.

The Speaker appointed Representative Dailzell (Pennsylvania) as regent of the Smithsonian Institution.

Session of Senate.
The conference report on the Statehood bill was today withdrawn from, and again referred to the Senate Committee on Territories. The committee report contained the compromise provision agreed upon by the conferees of the two Houses. There was some discussion on the power of the conferees to withdraw the report, and the withdrawal was only permitted by a vote.

Much of the remainder of the day was devoted to the bill extending to thirty-six hours the time that livestock may be carried in transit without unloading. Senator Warren was in charge of the measure, and he and a number of Senators debated it at length. During the discussion there was some reference to the proposed legislation for the regulation of the packing-houses, and Senator Lodge said the packers are standing in their own light in not inviting the most rigid inspection. The bill was passed.

The bill incorporating the Lake Erie and Ohio River ship canal was also discussed at some length, but its further consideration was postponed until tomorrow. A few minor bills were passed. The Senate adjourned at 6:10 P. M.

Senate and House would agree and leave to matter under the present law.
There is a further prediction regarding the result of the second conference on the bill that Pullman cars will be included in the regulation of the Interstate Commerce Commission, just as are other facilities of interstate commerce.
Speaker Cannon has expressed himself emphatically against the prohibition of passages to railroad employees.
"I would not go home and run for Congress again if I had to defend that provision," he has said many times since the provision was made a part of the conference report. The Speaker has in his district a constituency of at least 5,000 railway employees.

BALTIMORE, MD., June 12.—Charles Doon, of Staunton, Va., who attempted to kill Mrs. Annie Wits, and then shot himself early this morning, is dying at the Maryland University Hospital. The hospital physicians say he cannot live through the night. Mrs. Wits, it is believed, will recover.

Doon has been pleading with the doctors to let him see the woman and kiss her goodbye. He loved her and could not help doing the deed. Justice Loden took the dying depositions of the man and woman this morning.

STAUNTON, VA., June 12.—Mrs. Annie Wits, who was seriously shot in Baltimore last night by Charles Doon, who afterwards attempted to commit suicide, was the wife of Mr. Clarence L. Wits, of this city, whom had gotten a divorce from a lady a few days ago. They had lived here nearly all their lives. They were married in Washington four years ago, where Mrs. Wits, who was a daughter of Mag Kennedy, was married under the name of O'Brien.

Mr. Wits is a son of Mr. Isaac Wits, a prominent and retired merchant of Staunton and former member of the City Council, and a brother of Mr. Henry Wits, a well-to-do merchant and member of the firm of Joyner, Wits & Company, of Baltimore.

STAY OF EXECUTION GRANTED TO PATRICK

CANTON, OHIO, June 12.—Justice Day, of the United States Supreme Court, this afternoon granted a stay writ of appeal and consequently a stay writ of execution to Attorney Lindsay, in behalf of Albert T. The action was brought before Justice Day by Chief Justice Fuller and other members of the Supreme Court, who were scattered on their vacation trips.

The new Oklahoma, whose admission as a State is agreed upon by the Conference Committee, is formed of the union of Oklahoma and Indian Territory. It has a million inhabitants, about the same number as Connecticut. Its area will be almost exactly that of North Dakota, or more than that of all New England.

Oklahoma is only sixteen years old as a Territory. Its developments have been one of the marvels of a land of marvels. The Indian Territory, organized more than seventy years ago, contains most of the more progressive, educated and prosperous Indians of the nation.

The new State will be a splendid one, well fitted to put the forty-sixth star on the flag.—New York World.

"Here we have unnumbered stores of books, of maps, of manuscripts, of the Virginia Historical Society, the Valentine Museum, the Confederate Museum and the various libraries that are scattered in the city. The courts of law, the medical schools, all add to its value as an educational center."

"It is for these reasons," that Richmond has added most materially to the value of our college property. And this makes most emphatic what the college owes the city.

Her Opportunities.

"The third point I make is the opportunities the college has in this city. Richmond is the political center of the State. Likewise, it leads financially, in point of law, in point of religion, in very largely commercial. But Richmond is not the educational center of the State. And this, in spite of the fact that there is not a single city in the South that has the educational potentiality of the city of Richmond. But this educational spirit has never condensed itself into anything as an expression of our material for an educational center."

"Was it nothing four or five years ago that a man studying here could go a few blocks down the street and see the Constitutional Convention at work? Does it count for naught that the City Council has nightly sessions here, or that the Legislature sits through a term, so that the student may study the law in its innermost workings? Surely this city offers untold opportunities for study and research."

"The statement was made to me some time ago, the fully one-third of the time of this college. This is reason for congratulation. Richmond is our laboratory, and there is not a finer laboratory in the country."

"I value any educational institution by its value and service to mankind. Five million dollars on these foundations, in

Mr. Allan D. Jones, of Newport News, followed with a strong plea for support of athletics at Richmond College from Richmond people, and he emphasized the request of Dr. Foushee, that the Richmond chapter would take the matter in hand and see to it that the public became more interested in college affairs.

Major Courtney, president of the local chapter of alumni, thanked the gentlemen for their suggestions, saying that they had never occurred to him before, and that he would be glad to remedy the matter by laying it before his chapter at their next meeting. He closed their business holding a reunion and banquet in October next. Dr. Whitall pronounced the benediction, and the alumni adjourned to meet in Richmond a year hence.
